'tis the season
FOR POTENTIAL

INCIGHT UPDATES: Employment

The holiday season is officially upon us, and this year feels different for most. Especially for those still out of work due to the pandemic. That's why, as unemployment rates continue to rise, INCIGHT has adapted our services to meet the evolving needs of our community.

Here's a look at what we've accomplished for our job seekers in 2020. However, we still need your help to continue to serve job seekers in 2021!

VIRTUAL JOB FAIR EVENTS

With the need so high, we couldn't afford to wait until the pandemic was over to continue our employment services. So we turned our job fair events virtual!

These events, mostly held on Zoom, allowed the opportunity for job seekers and employers to connect "face-to-face" through video conversations. Job seekers were coached and given the opportunity to present themselves to potential employers. We even made space for employers to conduct one-on-one interviews with promising candidates. Though we prefer our in-person events, this was one way we could make the connections feel more real during this time.

Stay tuned for more on our 2021 Employment Services!

INSIGHTS WITH INCIGHT

This year, we launched a summer-long project called Insights with INCIGHT. This project was a weekly video series on topics to help unlock potential, specifically for job seekers, students and anyone wanting to work towards their education, employment or independence goals.

See the below video on how to "Amp Up Your Resume" and follow the link for more Insights with INCIGHT videos.

COACHING & RESUME REVIEW

When job fairs weren't an option, our employment team adapted to more one-on-one consultations to assist job seekers in their job search.

Our Employment Specialists took the time to reach out to our job seekers, review resumes, and virtually connect to discuss career goals, answer questions on interviewing and other job seeking-related topics.
